Bekkering Adams architecten is a dynamic and versatile office, founded in 1997 in Rotterdam by Juliette Bekkering, and reinforced with Monica Adams in 2005. With an enthusiastic team the office works on outstanding and innovative projects.

The commissions vary from complex building assignments to concept development, ranging from housing to public buildings, from urban to interior design. Over the years a distinct oeuvre has been established, characterized by remarkable and explicit buildings.

The aim is to strive for innovation and the conservation or restoration of existing qualities. The main focus is to enrich and fortify the identity and quality of the built environment.

Joyous, unique and personal attention are the keywords from which the office operates, always cherishing the joy of designing.
